EXPECTATIONS & GOALS

At the end of activity, the participants will

1. have better understanding of what leadership is,
2. learn how to build leadership qualities and become effective leaders

OBJECTIVES

What is

LEADERSHIP

for you?

LEADERS

leadership

“the process of influencing an organized group toward accomplishing its goals.”

Hughes, Ginnett, and Curphy, 1998

Therefore, a good LEADER would be good at building teams as well as getting results.

Leadership is a set of innate traits, refined and perfected over time with education, training and experience.

- ✓ being in the right place in the right time
- ✓ nurturing environment
- ✓ not everyone can be a leader
- ✓ leadership is often a choice

EXCELLENCE

DISCIPLINE

COMMITMENT

We Make

EXCELLENCE

A Habit

- The Philippines ranks among the most corrupt countries
- The public suffers from corruption: inadequate public services; breakdown of law & order; expensive goods & services
- Government efforts are not sufficient & anti-corruption bodies lack teeth & are often subject to pressure
- Government seldom takes action unless there is media and public attention

Common Wrong Ethical Principles

- Moral conventionalism:
If most people are doing it, it must be right.
- Moral legalism:
If it is not illegal it must be right.
- Cultural relativism:
If the culture accepts it, it must be right.
- Moral egoism:
If it benefits me and those close to me, it must be right.

UNETHICAL LEADERSHIP

The background features two overlapping silhouettes of people walking. The larger silhouette is a man in a suit, walking towards the right. The smaller silhouette is a woman in a business suit, also walking towards the right, positioned slightly behind and to the right of the man's silhouette.

- Purely guided by self-interest, even at the expense of others
- Treats others as things to be used rather than as persons to be respected and treated with dignity
- Develops a climate of distrust in organizations and in society

The basis for developing a sound conscience.

Why Ethics?

It determines, through reason and values, the rightness or wrongness of a behavior, policy or institution.

The future of society depends on ethical leadership.

ETHICAL LEADERSHIP

Leadership guided by sound principles of what is right and wrong; also called principle-leadership

Builds a climate of trustworthiness in organizations and in society

...leadership cannot just be done for its sake. It has to be meaningful, it has to have social relevance.

...leadership should be anchored to values and virtues.

- Joeven Castro

VP for Academic Services

Far Eastern University

MORAL
ABSOLUTE

It means that there is no justification for unethical behavior - even if the goal might be itself laudable.

The end does not justify the means.

"When values are sufficient, laws are unnecessary; when values are insufficient, laws are unenforceable."

Emile Durkheim 1858-1917
French social scientist.
